

Wind Energy in Australia

The Opportunity for Consensus Building Using New Online Technologies

Tim Offor & Barbara Sharp Directors, Pax Republic toffor @paxrepublic.com

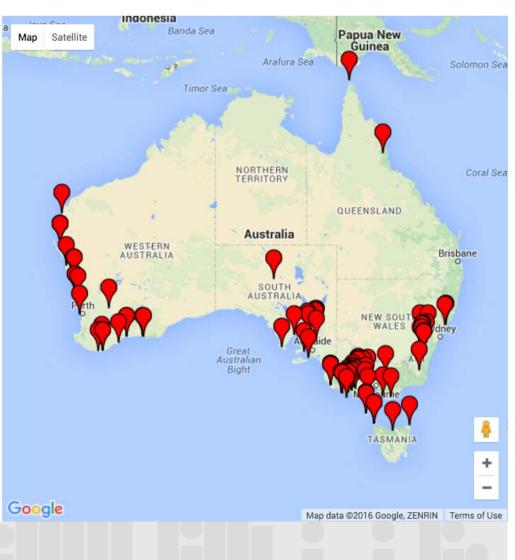

- Wind Energy in Australia
- Bald Hills Wind Farm Case Study
- The Opportunities for Consensus Building
 through New Technologies

Wind Energy in Australia

- 39 Registered with AEM
- 3,600 MW installed capacity
- Difficult policy climate
- Large number approved but not built
- Much community conflict

Wind Energy Approvals

- Government regulated approvals
- Federal, State & Local Government
- Victoria a Planning Panel does a technical assessment
- Expensive, time consuming approvals process
- Commonly >AUD3 million (¥250m) and 2-3 years+
- Adversarial, public campaigning, legal challenges
- Pax has worked on 11 wind projects

Typical stakeholder engagement

- Government expectation is "consultation"
- Website, newsletters, media releases
- Maybe an "information session"
 - History of disruption by campaigners
 - Information exchange difficult due to conflict
- Many small private meetings
- Formal written submissions when formal application lodged
- Public hearings (independent planning panel)

Bald Hills Wind Farm

- 52 turbine, 104 MW
- Owned by Mitsui & Co Ltd
- >10 years start to finish
- Very controversial
 - Close to coast
 - Adjacent to wetlands (rare birds)
 - Popular tourist region
- Early community engagement was poor
 - Limited geographic scope
 - Little opportunity for discussion
 - Inexperienced project developers
- Pax brought in to "fix things up"

Concerns (cared about?)

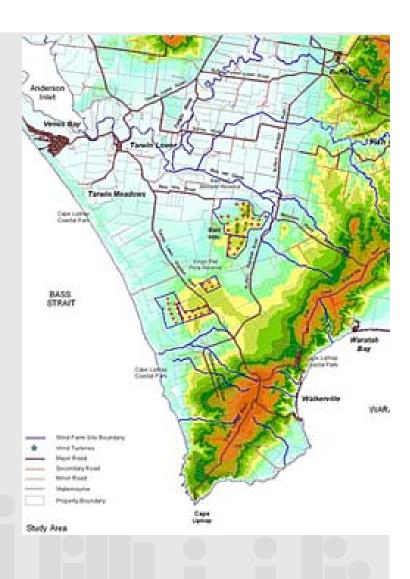

- Visual impact
 - "Industrialisation of the landscape"
 - For residents
 - For tourists (beautiful/ugly)
- Impacts on birdlife
 - Rare Orange-bellied Parrot
 - Migrating waterfowl
- Noise & health
 - Fears of "infra-sound"
 - "Wind Turbine Syndrome"
- Property values
- Social impacts
 - Fractured community relationships
 - Pro/anti sentiment split

Stakeholders (who cared?)

- Turbine hosts v.s. neighbours
- Local community
 - Farmers
 - Adjacent townsfolk (largely holiday population)
 - "Lifestylers" (small rural properties)
- Local, state governments
- Campaigners against turbines
- Environmentalists for renewable energy

Pax Response

- Re-did the consultation
- Social impact assessment
- Increased communication
- Recommended a Community Benefits Package
- CBP key device for balancing the interests of individuals and the "collective good"
 - (society & planet)

How would it be done today?

Pax Guiding Principles:

- •8 Principles embed consensus in process
- •4 chief principles relevant to Bald Hills:
 - Transparency
 - Fairness/equity
 - Participation
 - Communication
- More robust outcomes

New participative technology

← → C n D clients.sa	ndbox.paxrepublic.com/atlasgender_women/#/			☆ 🍕 🖬 🖸
 2 hours remaining Shrink Sidebar Home Rooms About Admin Dashboard 	Forums The Atlas Corporation Gender Equity Forums - Women Managers The Atlas Corporation Gender Equity Forums - Women Managers « Back to all forums			Current View: Admi
A Notifications				On to rooms »
 Private Messages Timothy 	A Notices		C [*] Quick Links	Current Conversations
Popular Forum tags +	Mary White - Facilitator 22 days ago Hello everyone. Thanks for visiting this White, your facilitator. When you're reac can click on the Quick Links on this pag	ly to get talking you	Listening and Learning The Culture at Atlas The culture at Atlas (anonymous conversation) If you can see it, you can be it The Talent Pipeline ImageModule	Anonymous 51 has left a comment on The culture 12 days ago at Atlas (anonymous conversation).
			Quick poll - do we need an anonymous conversation? PollingModule	that's easy, dob them in and trigger an investigation. I was groped by [Name Removed] at last y
	m Timeline	¢ ± ^	Resources Room FileModule • The business case for gender diversity FileModule • Atlas Diversity Policy FileModule • If you can see it, you can be it EmbedModule	Anonymous 41 has left a comment on The culture 12 days ago at Atlas (anonymous conversation).
	 Part 1: Listening & Learning Part 2: What we heard 		Image: Second secon	Well I wasn't going to raise this in public, but since you've provided this opportunity
_			Mary White has created a new conversation If you can see it, Source it, Sourc	Anonymous 41 has left a comment on If you can 12 days ago see it, you can be it.
 Facilitated discussions Many participants From anywhere At any time Easier, faster, cheaper 			12 days ago Mary White has created a new conversation Atlas Diversity	Georgia, sorry about that - had a bad day!
			Policy. 12 days ago Mary White has created a new conversation The culture and	Julie Sanders has left a comment on If you can see 12 days ago it, you can be it.
			Atlas (anonymous conversation). 22 days ago	But it's the same all through society. How many women are there on
			Mary White has created a new conversation Quick poll - do the we need an anonymous conversation?.	the frontbench of our parli Ayesha Delongi has left a comment on If you can 12 days ago see it, you can be it.
			Mary White has created a new conversation The Talent Pipeline. 25 days ago	I thought it was great – it nailed what we all suspect, intuitively. You know Georgia, sometim aper	Mary White has created a new conversation If you can see it, to you can be it. 25 days ago	Georgia Beale has left a comment on If you can 12 days ago see it, you can be it.

Consensus & new technology

Tech enables and amplifies:

- •Transparency
 - Anyone can see what's happening internet
- •Fairness/equity
 - Neutral facilitator manages behaviour, balances competing interests
- Participation
 - Technology means anyone can take part any time from anywhere (lifestylers)
- Communication
 - Done through the tech platform to all

Excellence made easy

- Cost as major impetus for positive change:
- Sound process:
 - Cheaper
 - Faster
 - More participation (better informed)
 - Greater inclusion of more people means more robust data for independent panel
 - Reduces uncertainty (refine project before submitting)
- Greater opportunity for "voice", mutual gain and leadership.

Questions?

Thank You